REPORT TO THE GOVERNOR

Honorable Fred P. Cone,
Governor of Florida,
Tallahassee, Florida.

In this second annual report, filed in compliance with statutory requirements, we have the honor to advise that Florida's public assistance program has advanced to such an extent that it now stands out by comparison with those of other Southern states. This is true in the number of recipients in proportion to population, in lump sum annual expenditures and in the average grant. In some of its phases it is well to the fore from a national standpoint.

The peak was attained in May of the present fiscal year ending June 30, 1939, at which time 37,829 persons were receiving $522,702.00 in Old Age Assistance, 2,404 persons were receiving $34,966.00 in Aid to the Blind and 2,645 families (6,895 children) were receiving $67,756.00 in Aid to Dependent Children. Total grants were at the rate of $7,505,088.00 annually.

During the year disbursements had increased by the payment of Aid to Dependent Children, funds for which had not been previously available, and by expansion of the Old Age Assistance and Aid to the Blind rolls so as to absorb a balance carried forward from the previous year. This balance had accumulated while our social staff was being organized and while large numbers of original case investigations necessary to the adding of names to the rolls were being made. Under the provisions of Senate Bill No. 1111 this money would have been lost to the needy unless used prior to the end of the biennium, or re-appropriated.

YEAR'S PROGRESS

With funds in hand for the granting of Aid to Dependent Children, this program was launched in September of 1938. Thus, for the first time since this Board had assumed its responsibilities on July 1, 1937, it was able to extend its activities to include all of the three public assistance categories—Old Age Assistance, Aid to the Blind and Aid to Dependent Children.

During the 12-month period, 11,844 recipients of Old Age Assistance, 1,062 recipients of Aid to the Blind, and 2,697 families (7,088 children) receiving Aid to Dependent Children were added to the rolls.

At the end of the year the case load, the total of monthly grants and the average grants, by categories, were:

	Cases	Amount	Average Grant
Old Age Assistance	37,544	$520,447.00	$13.86
Aid to the Blind	2,385	34,813.00	14.60
Aid to Dependent Children	2,630	67,643.00	25.72

Commensurate progress was also made during the year in other administrative activities of the Board, which include certification for and distribution of surplus commodities, certification for W. P. A. and N. Y. A. placement, certification for N. Y. A. scholarships, selection of C. C. C. personnel, operation of the Child Welfare Department and Child Welfare Services.

This Board had expected that the 1939 session of the State Legislature would increase state public assistance funds from the $3,800,000 annually the past two years (including $400,000 annually from the General Revenue Fund for Aid to Dependent Children), to the $4,800,000 annually recommended by you in your message. Had this been done there would have been no occasion for reducing the number of recipients or the amount of the grants.

Faced with the necessity for some immediate retrenchment, so that outgo might fit actual rather than anticipated income, the Board ordered certain economies at its first meeting after the adjournment of the Legislature. At the same time it authorized a careful study by the Commissioner of the entire situation, so that a plan might be developed that would impose the fewest possible hardships upon those in want. This plan will be put into effect early in the new fiscal year.

Already certification for placement with the Works Progress Administration has been discontinued. This was done regretfully and without prejudice and in the belief that the W. P. A. social staff was adequate to meet demands upon it, in view of the gradually dwindling number of available jobs as federal appropriations were cut. There was a waiting list of more than 25,000 eligibles for whom no employment had been provided at the time this step was taken. The Board was influenced in its decision by the belief that its first duty was to Florida's needy aged, needy blind and the dependent children of indigent parents, and that expenditures for the further enrolling of enforced idle for whom no work was provided were rendered secondary by the force of circumstances over which it had no control.

An initial reduction of 5 per cent in district budgets was put into effect. The entire case load is being reviewed as expeditiously as possible, so that proper adjustments and warranted reductions in grants may be made. Personnel is to be reduced as rapidly as feasible and administrative costs held to a minimum. Nearly 900 known aliens will be dropped from the rolls, in accordance with a legislative amendment to the State Welfare Act which limits participation in public assistance in Florida to citizens of the United States, and which becomes effective January 1, 1940.

With amendments to the Social Security Act pending in Congress at this time, the possibility exists that matching federal funds may be increased. Should this be done, Florida would benefit to an extent that might make it possible to increase the case load even above the present high figure and to restore or even increase grants. Proposed amendments that would be especially beneficial provide for the matching of A. D. C. funds dollar for dollar, and for the matching of Old Age Assistance funds up to $15 per month on the basis of two dollars for one. More liberal federal financial participation is desirable if an approximate national level is to be attained, since the various states differ in wealth and taxable income. The principle of equality in the distribution of public assistance is one that is recommended by national tradition. Relief, in whatever form, should penalize no economically handicapped governmental unit.

Irrespective of what Congress may do, it is the fixed policy of this Board to administer the funds placed at its disposal, whatever the amount, to the best of its ability and to the best possible advantage.

ACT AMENDED

The State Welfare Act, under which we have operated for the past two years, was amended in four particulars by the 1939 Legislature.

These amendments provide:

1. For the removal of all aliens from the Old Age Assistance rolls by January 1, 1940.
2. For the cancellation of all liens taken by the State of Florida and/or the Federal Social Security Board, pursuant to Section 14, Chapter 18285, General Laws of Florida.
3. For the payment of fees for the issuance of commissions to members of the State and district welfare boards, all of whom serve without compensation.
4. For the automatic termination of terms of district board members who absent themselves from four consecutive district board meetings.

The amended law became effective as of June 12, 1939.

The lien clause in the State Welfare Act had been inserted by a previous administration, and had been liberally construed by this Board in all instances where no fraud was shown, so as to avoid imposing unnecessary hardships upon those in need and to spare the expense of comparatively trivial litigation. The Federal Social Security Act merely requires that states making recoveries through the enforcement of liens return to the national government its proportionate part of matching funds used in the payment of recovered grants, leaving it optional with the various commonwealths as to whether or not they attempt such recoveries.

RECIPIENTS PROTECTED

Through Oscar M. Powell, executive secretary, the Social Security Board advised this Board under date of December 22, 1938, that it was most important to promulgate rules and regulations concerning the use and protection of lists of public assistance recipients, and case records relating to recipients.

Following the failure of the Legislature to amend the State Welfare Act to comply with the suggestion of the Social Security Board this Board, at its June meeting, adopted a resolution which would "confine the use of said lists and records to purposes related to the administration of state or local public assistance programs".

In taking this action this Board, a policy-making as well as administrative body, was motivated by a desire to protect recipients of public assistance from both embarrassment and exploitation. As assistance is based upon need, the promiscuous publication of names would in many instances humiliate good citizens who had been forced by economic necessity to accept relief. Ready accessibility of the lists would also tempt and invite wholesale solicitation upon the part of canvassers that would have been annoying, at least, if not actually inimicable to their welfare. Under some circumstances these recipients might have been subjected to political pressure.

AGED SENT HOME

Six inmates were transferred during the year from the State Hospital at Chattahoochee to more congenial surroundings in the outside world through the granting of Old Age Assistance. This brought to 20 the number of those who have been thus benefitted. One inmate was removed from the hospital through the granting of Aid to the Blind the past year, and two the previous year.

This use of public assistance is a novel and forward step in the extension of state-federal aid to those who have been unable to leave institutions for mental treatment after recovery because of the lack of funds or relatives able to support. Under the procedure employed and in accordance with legal restrictions which prevent the granting of aid to inmates of public institutions, arrangements were made with private agencies to finance care of such persons for the month immediately after their leaving the hospital, during which their eligibility for grants was established.

The annual report of Mrs. Herberta Ann Leonardy, liaison officer compensated by the State Welfare Board for work in this connection, shows that 50 placements have been made during the fiscal years 1938 and 1939, as follows:

Furloughs	4	Furloughs	19
Old Age Assistance	14	Old Age Assistance	6
Confederate Pension	1	Confederate Pension	1
Blind Assistance	2	Blind Assistance	1
		Adoption	2
	21		29
Total placements	50

That this humane release of these in many instances "forgotten" men and women has proven a successful experience is attested by that feature of Mrs. Leonardy's report which says:

"During the entire period since September 1, 1937, to July 1, 1939, I have only had, out of all my placements, five patients returned".

APPRECIATED COOPERATION

The Board deems it appropriate to express its appreciation of the cooperation received from the members of the twelve district welfare boards. Serving as they do without pay they are especially to be commended for their patriotic contribution of time and effort toward furthering the welfare cause. Being closer to the scene of action, it devolves upon them to assume responsibility for execution of the detail so necessary to effectively and objectively carry forward the state-wide program. The continued progress made attests to their zeal and loyalty.

Thanks are due, also, to the state and district staffs for the efficient and faithful discharge of duty.

The newspapers of the state, almost without exception, have been constructive in their attitude and generous with their space. The value of the press in the formation of a correct public opinion, hinged upon actualities, is unquestioned. In this instance it has done much to allay discontent based upon misinformation and to neutralize criticism through its educational influence. It has kept recipients of public assistance advised as to the procedure required to conform to state and federal laws, as well as to the financial limitations that must be imposed under fixed appropriations. This splendid service has a monetary as well as altruistic worth, inasmuch as it considerably lightens the tasks of our visitors and intake and effects an economy in their time.

COST DECREASES

It is gratifying to the Board to report that administrative costs during the fiscal year have shown a sharp decrease in state funds. This is especially true of the Old Age Assistance program, oldest and involving the largest financial outlay. In this category the decrease was from 12.37 per cent of the total cost for the year ending June 30, 1938 to 7.31 per cent for the year ending June 30, 1939. Administrative expense for this department was $117,426.54 less than for the previous year, an economy that was effected despite the fact that the OAA rolls had jumped from 29,470 as of June, 1938, to 37,544 as of June, 1939.

The total cost in state funds for administering the various programs of the State Welfare Board during the fiscal year was $707,801.25, which is $81,676.36, or 10.3 per cent less than for the previous fiscal year. The comparison is heightened by taking into account the inauguration of the Aid to Dependent Children program and the adding of more than 9,000 names to the Old Age Assistance and Aid to the Blind lists.

In the reduction of operating costs the Board has been mindful of the need of doing a good job, one that would reflect credit upon the state and that would stand the tests imposed by federal auditors. It has been our purpose to effect legitimate savings, not to be niggardly nor expensively parsimonious.

As a means of insuring the selection of competent personnel, the State Board has continued the operation of the Merit System under the direction of an independent committee. The Committee is composed of Ivey Futch, chairman, a member of the State Board, F. A. Mahan, a member of a district board, Miss Mary B. Merritt of the University of Miami, Dr. Elmer Hinckley of the University of Florida, and C. C. Codrington, commissioner. Dr. Hinckley serves as technical advisor to the Committee, and, under his supervision, the personnel supervisor serves as executive secretary to the Committee.

Florida's merit system plan has received favorable national recognition as being founded on approved principles and procedures, and on its successful operation. The Committee constantly studies means of improving methods and with the cooperation of the State Board has made progress in making the administration of the merit system more effective.

During the past fiscal year two examinations were conducted, as a result of which 157 persons were declared eligible for social service positions. This brought the total number of persons who have been declared eligible for social work positions to 1,344, although many of these persons are found to be not available for employment.

The fixed policy of giving preference to residents of Florida in the employment of state and district personnel has been continued. It has also been the policy of the board to require the employment of district staff from applicants residing in the district to be served, when available. This application of the principle of home rule has proven advantageous and popular.

Appended hereto and made a part of this report is a statement of disbursements made by this Board during the fiscal year, together with tables and charts showing the extent of Florida's public assistance program, and reports of the twelve welfare districts and the various state departments.

Respectfully submitted as at the close of business on June 30, 1939.

ANNUAL REPORT SURPLUS COMMODITY DIVISION

July 1, 1938—June 30, 1939

(Each 18 mills expended by the State of Florida in the administration of the Surplus Commodity Department brought the state a return of $1.00 in Federal money.)

The Commodity Distribution Division of the State Welfare Board has the responsibility of accepting food commodities offered the State of Florida by the Federal Surplus Commodities Corporation in Washington, packaging same and distributing to approximately 50,000 families that have been certified by the State Welfare Board to receive these commodities.

All clothing made in the WPA Sewing Rooms is also turned over to the Commodity Division to distribute to certified families.

During the past year, 83,090 surplus garments purchased by the Government were also turned over to this Department by the WPA for distribution.

To handle these allotments sent into the State of Florida, the Commodity Distribution Division has a set-up including a state office in Jacksonville, which is administration headquarters for the entire state. Five district offices, and twenty-nine unit offices are also maintained in central locations throughout the state. Warehouses, which are used as centers from which distribution is made to the different outlets, are maintained in sixty-four counties.

For handling deliveries of various commodities and clothing, the division has thirty-two trucks located in the twenty-nine unit headquarters.

The labor used by the Commodity Division in handling this distribution is furnished by the WPA, which has allotted two hundred and fifty workers.

All reports to Washington and to the WPA are compiled in the state office from detailed reports sent in from the five districts and twenty-nine units, covering all activities in each of the sixty-seven counties in the state.

CIVILIAN CONSERVATION CORPS

(In this department each $2.92 spent by the State for administration brought an income of $400.00 from the Federal Government.)

The development of the Civilian Conservation Corps during the fiscal year 1939 is characterized in the changing philosophy of the Corps itself. The CCC is no longer regarded merely a substitute for alternative forms of relief as was true at the time of the program's inception. Rather, it is attempting to fulfill its purpose as defined in the following clause of the federal law which provides for its existence:

"There is hereby established the Civilian Conservation Corps . . . for the purpose of providing employment, as well as vocational training, for youthful citizens of the United States, who are unemployed and in need of employment—through the performance of useful public work in connection with the conservation and development of the natural resources of the United States."

As State Selecting Agency for the Civilian Conservation Corps it has been the responsibility of the State Welfare Board to interpret this altered conception of the work of the CCC to the District Welfare Boards and the staffs of those boards which actually accomplish the work of selection. The State Office Staff has attempted to develop in the local workers an understanding of the true purposes and objectives of the Corps and the opportunities which it offers to Florida youths in work, training and experience. These local staff members are encouraged to view the job of selection as that of filtering out from the reservoir of eligible applicants those who can contribute most, as well as gain most, through CCC enrollment.

That progress has been made in this direction is indicated in the results of a recent study of the discharges of 1048 Florida youths who left the CCC during a given period. Of these discharges 982 were honorable while but 66 were administrative or dishonorable. Further, only eight men in the group were separated from the Corps within two months after enrollment. Of the total, 102 served from two to six months, 367 remained for one six-month period but less than a year, 145 served one year and 426 were discharged after thirteen months or more of CCC experience.

The findings of this study indicate a marked decrease in the number of Florida enrollees who leave the Corps during the first few weeks after enrollment and that the average period of service has lengthened greatly.

It would seem, therefore, that efforts to attain increased competency in the work of CCC selection are bearing fruit and that all concerned have a better understanding of the benefits which result from sending forward for service in the Corps young men of purpose, character and ambition.

CHILD WELFARE DEPARTMENT

The child welfare work of the State Welfare Board is divided into two units—the Child Welfare Department, which has an administrative responsibility, and Child Welfare Services, which is responsible for case work.

The Child Welfare Department differs from Child Welfare Services in that it offers protective care to all children rather than specialized case work to individual children.

The program of the department, in addition to the legal responsibility for licensing, is directed toward (1) Improving conditions under which children are growing up. (2) Raising standards of care and treatment for those children who must be placed in foster homes. (3) Assisting communities throughout the State in co-ordinating child welfare activities to provide adequate care and treatment at a minimum cost.

SUPERVISION & LICENSING OF CHILD CARING AGENCIES & INSTITUTIONS

In the exercise of the legal powers of the State Board to approve and license child caring agencies and institutions the department has stressed a co-operative educational program with a gradual improvement in care, rather than mere routine inspection.

An effort has been made to encourage institutions to introduce case work service into their social service departments for the purpose of making individual studies of each child's needs.

There are 30 child caring institutions in the state subject to licensing and supervision by the State Welfare Board. Of this number 22 are licensed. The remaining number are working with the department toward qualifying for a license. These institutions are caring for 1,191 children.

A study is made annually of each institution by the department. Every assistance possible is given the institution to help it in reshaping its plan of operation to enable it to give a more adequate and useful service.

In addition to the one state-wide private child caring agency, there are two local children's service bureaus responsible to the State Board for adequate care to children. Two of these agencies are licensed and the third is fast qualifying.

The department has assisted in the organization of two new institutions, working carefully with their boards to eliminate unnecessary expense in organization. Careful studies have been made to determine the need for the service they plan to offer. In this matter the department has been able to keep at a minimum the establishment of undesirable and unsound projects.

SUPERVISION & LICENSING OF FAMILY BOARDING HOMES FOR CHILDREN

In 1933 a survey published by the American Legion pointed out: "The child who is not thoroughly desirable as a foster child, whether because of age, because of mentality, personality, physical handicap or bad family history, stands out as almost totally unprovided for in Florida." The above situation is constantly being brought to the attention of the department by local communities who recognize this need. In many instances the department has assisted in the organization of case committees and the establishment of a boarding home program to assist in the meeting of this need.

Boarding homes throughout the State are rapidly increasing. During the past year it has been possible to secure direct supervision for many of these homes through child caring agencies, such as probation departments of juvenile courts, county workers, and children's service bureaus. This supervision has been invaluable to the department, as direct supervision involving frequent visits by the department field representatives has not been possible.

PAROLE SERVICE FOR INDUSTRIAL SCHOOL FOR GIRLS

The demonstration parole project undertaken in 1937 has shown some excellent results. It has clearly demonstrated that case work service incorporated in the state institutions can do much to aid the bewildered delinquent, who at heart is just a little girl needing a friend. The parole service of the department has continued the constructive work already begun at the Industrial School. It has illustrated that more probation work for girls as well as boys is one of the outstanding needs of Florida.

INQUIRY SERVICE OF CHILDREN'S CASES

During the past year several hundred requests for service have come to the department from other state departments. This service covers investigations of children's histories, investigation of relative's homes, and authorization of children's return to Florida.

Educational service has mainly consisted in appearing before local groups and clubs for the purpose of discussing the facilities of the State for children and the outstanding needs.

LIBRARY SERVICE

The department has secured through the Works Progress Administration the services of a library assistant who has assembled 275 books on all phases of child welfare and over 500 pamphlets which are available as a lending library.

CHILD WELFARE SERVICES

One of the most effective provisions for children, on a nation-wide basis, which reaches down into states and counties and out to rural routes where the neglected, underprivileged, and maladjusted children actually live, is that made possible by the Social Security Act through Child Welfare Services. Through this program states are offered federal funds, largely on the basis of their rural population, and plans are worked out jointly between the Federal Children's Bureau and State Welfare agencies for developing more effective means of discovering children in need of service and of providing treatment and help based on individual problems and needs.

Florida has received federal funds for child welfare services amounting to approximately $23,000 a year since early in 1936. Through financial participation of the State Welfare Board it has been possible to extend this program from six to twelve counties, with a staff of sixteen workers, especially trained and experienced in children's work. These are Alachua, Escambia, Jackson, Hamilton - Madison, Volusia, Orange, Polk, Indian River, Palm Beach, Hillsborough, and Highlands.

In these counties child welfare services workers are providing care and service for neglected and abused children; those with behavior or personality problems; youngsters who are delinquent or in danger of becoming delinquent; children with physical or mental handicaps which affect their normal adjustment in their families and communities; and children who need foster home placement. In all phases of work, two things are stressed: first, the values of home life and family ties which mean so much to every child that they should be preserved whenever possible and, second, the importance of early recognition of problems and of preventive treatment which will avert more serious difficulties.

The interest and support of the State Welfare Board, County Advisory Committees, and Boards, and groups and individuals in the counties has been of inestimable value. Local committees and groups have been responsible for securing local funds for care of children. While the problems of most children can be worked out without expenditure of money, except that represented in the time and skill of the worker, there are some children whose treatment does require money, principally those children needing foster boarding care. During the year approximately 2,000 children were referred to child welfare services for practically every problem which can disturb a child's happiness and well being.

PERSONNEL

The State Welfare Board realizes that the administration of public funds is a responsibility which demands the utmost care in selecting and maintaining the highest quality of personnel obtainable, for the service rendered and the efficiency attained depend upon the type of persons employed. The obligation to administer public funds carefully is increased many times over when the administration involves the delicate task of dealing with individuals who are in need of assistance. The State Board, through its experience with the problems of public welfare work, has found that service to the client of the agency and to the taxpayer is increased in proportion to the ability of the staff to give that service in the most effective and efficient manner. This double responsibility toward client and the public, the Board has found, can best be discharged by persons who possess the qualifications and personal abilities particularly fitting them for the field of social service. The Board has also been confronted with the problem of securing well-equipped persons with technical training for the more responsible supervisory positions in order that inexperienced employees may be properly trained on the job, thereby insuring the development of more adequate and better standards of service. Florida has been particularly handicapped in the past with a scarcity of available persons who have had social work training. Members of the staff have been encouraged to attend schools of social work on educational leaves in order that Florida people may provide leadership in the social service field. Several employees are now on leaves attending graduate schools. As more persons obtain training and return to the staff, the standard of service rendered can gradually be raised.

The State Board, through its Merit System Committee, has continuously studied the personnel problems inherent in a comparatively new welfare agency. Realizing that it is building not only for the effectiveness of today's program, but for the development of staff and leaders who will be responsible for Florida's public welfare services for a period of many years, the Board has constantly emphasized the careful selection of personnel. The Merit System originally inaugurated in November 1936 has been continued with success, but it has been under a constant process of improvement based on knowledge gained from experience with its administration.

The Merit System Committee, composed of one member of the State Board, one member of a District Board, the Commissioner, and two professional persons drawn from the Universities, functions as a policy formulating group as well as a committee to conduct all details of the merit system examinations. The examinations for the social service positions of visitor, unit supervisor and district director are composed of three parts, an evaluation of experience and education, a written examination, and a personal interview. Upon successful completion of the three parts of the examination, eligible applicants are added to a register which is maintained in all district offices and the state office, from which all persons in the three positions listed are chosen by the District Boards. Although many applications are received, a large percentage of applicants do not actually complete their examinations as is evidenced by the two examinations conducted in the past fiscal year. Of the 754 applications received for these two examinations, 426, or only 56% were found eligible for the written examination. Of these eligible, only 68% actually took the examinations, and 53% of those taking them were found to possess a passing rating after the three scores had been compiled.

During the past year, the Merit Committee has revised the requirements slightly and improved the method of evaluating education and experience by utilizing a point system whereby more accurate credit can be assigned to all combinations of qualifications presented. Forms have been improved, and more thorough methods of verifying qualifications have been instituted.

Under consideration are plans for including clerical employees in the Merit System and to extend the Committee's activities, at the request of the State Board, to cover a state-wide service rating system for the evaluation of all employees. This plan will serve to stimulate the professional growth and development of the staff and will furnish an equitable system for increasing compensation on the basis of improved efficiency and quality of performance, as well as provide a sound basis on which to retain only those employees who do an acceptable standard of work.

The personnel section, which is a part of the Public Assistance Department, and whose supervisor serves as executive secretary of the Merit System Committee, maintains individual records on all applicants and employees. The personnel office acts as clearing house for all districts on matters of personnel, and assumes responsibility for investigating the records of prospective employees at the request of district boards. The files of the merit system are under the custody of the personnel office and the routine work of clearing applications for the Committee's consideration is its responsibility. With the help of the Committee, gradual improvements have been made in the routine and in the service rendered to the districts.

PUBLIC ASSISTANCE DEPARTMENT

Public Assistance Department is responsible for the supervision of the districts in administering the following provisions of the Social Welfare Act:

1. Administration of Old Age Assistance, Aid to the Blind, and Aid to Dependent Children.
2. Certification for CCC, WPA, NYA, Surplus Commodities, etc.
3. Service to children, families, and individuals through the facilities of this Agency or its cooperation with other agencies.
4. Investigation for federal and state institutions and other Agencies both within and without the State.

The Public Assistance Department is composed of four sections:

1. Field Staff Section is responsible for the direct supervision of the districts.
2. The Inquiry Section handles correspondence pertaining to case complaints and inquiries.
3. CCC Department handles all matters pertaining to CCC and enrollments.
4. Personnel Section is responsible for policies and procedures which will insure the employment of efficient and qualified personnel.

The field staff renders a coordinating service from the state office to the districts. All departments in the state office have contact with the districts through the field representatives of this department. This coordination makes for greater efficiency and economy in the total welfare program.

During this year emphasis has been placed on the development of the Aid to Dependent Children program. This program deals with families and all the problems inherent in family relationships and therefore requires considerable skill and case work ability. Hence the necessity of close supervision and in-service training is increasingly apparent. The field staff is responsible for the development of the staffs so that all the programs can be administered to the maximum benefit of the persons whom the Agency serves. It is hoped that the next year will make a formal in-service training program possible.

Through the field staff accomplishments in developing better organizational patterns in the districts have been obtained. This has tended to make routine more easily accomplished, thereby allowing maximum time for more constructive service both to the Agency and to the client.

INQUIRIES AND COMPLAINTS

The Inquiry Section of the Public Assistance Department has as one of its jobs the handling of the hundreds of letters which reach the state office each week. Many of these communications come direct. Others are referred by public officials from the President on down. All of them are acknowledged.

A routine acknowledgement is all that some of them require, while others receive complete replies. These, of course, request information with regard to rules, policies, or procedures which are in effect on a state-wide basis and do not pertain to an individual situation which is known in detail only to a local staff.

This does not mean that details of individual cases are not known to the Inquiry Section. In this office there are files which have been built up over a period of years and which very often enable the state office to help the local staffs in interpreting a given situation to the persons involved or to others who are interested. The files contain reports obtained through the facilities of the various District Welfare Boards.

There are instances where the state office requires a report because of a statement contained in a letter which it receives. Information obtained in this manner is used in determining staff action and attitude in a given situation and may be used as a gauge in evaluating certain types of work which are a definite staff responsibility. The letters themselves are used in measuring local interpretation.

To make possible the advantageous use of this correspondence, all complaints, inquiries and letters containing suggestions or comments are tabulated by type and source. The information thus obtained is gathered in a monthly report.

The Inquiry Section also serves as clearing house and forwarding center for inter-agency case correspondence. This work is done on a reciprocal basis which enables the board to secure from other states pertinent information that is necessary to the intelligent consideration of its own cases. General supervision over state-wide policies and procedures in inter-agency relationships is a further responsibility of the section.

Other clearing house and forwarding center duties are in connection with inquiries from State and Federal institutions and the National Youth Administration.

REFERRAL TO THE NATIONAL YOUTH ADMINISTRATION

(An administrative expenditure of $11,710.13 by the State brought $1,077,007.48 from the Federal Government.)

The referring of eligible youths for part-time employment with the National Youth Administration is another responsibility which the State Welfare Board has handled during this fiscal year.

The National Youth Administration provides employment for training purposes to some youths while attending school and to other youths who may not be attending school. The primary purpose of the National Youth Administration is to give vocational training to eligible youths so that these youths may more quickly find their place in the economic world.

During this year the staff has referred 6,989 youths to the National Youth Administration. During this fiscal year the National Youth Administration has spent $830,257.11 for employment of youths on various projects and $246,730.37 was spent in the Student Aid Project.

WPA REFERRALS

(During the fiscal year 84,348 applications for WPA referrals were investigated by the State Welfare Board.)

During the first half of the fiscal year economic conditions in Florida were serious. Rains on the West Coast and in Central Florida had ruined most of the vegetable crops and low prices on fruits had caused a marked decline in the fruit industry. During this time the volume of WPA applications continued at the rate of almost 11,000 monthly.

In the second half of the fiscal year there were fewer applications for WPA employment. There was little to be found in changed economic conditions which would serve as a reason for the reduction in number of applications. It is rather believed that the reduction in the WPA program itself tended to discourage many persons from making applications.

During the fiscal year 84,348 applications for WPA were received and of this number 40,745 were referred to the WPA. It has been the responsibility of the State Welfare Board to determine those persons who were residents of Florida, who were in need and who were able to perform a good day's work. The Board has done this job conscientiously so that WPA employment might be restricted to eligible persons and could be furnished to as many needy unemployed as possible.

Throughout this fiscal year the WPA officials have continued to assist in the administrative cost in making WPA referrals. During this year they contributed $80,560 toward this cost. In June, 1939 the State Welfare Board ceased the responsibility of making WPA referrals because of the necessity of reducing all administrative costs.
